Administrative Professionals Week

Honoring the office professionals who make offices work

Modern business is a storm. Modern office professionals bring order. They take the swirl of international commerce and give it cohesion. Every April for 61 years, the International Association of Administrative Professionals has been asking businesses around the world to show gratitude for the people who get the job done in their office. Please join us by committing in some significant way to mark Administrative Professionals Week April 21-27 and Administrative Professionals Day on Wednesday, April 24, 2013. We're honoring the office professionals who make offices work.

About Administrative Professionals Week

Since 1952, the International Association of Administrative Professionals has honored office workers by sponsoring Administrative Professionals Week. Today, it is one of the largest workplace observances outside of employee birthdays and major holidays.

Today, there are more than 4.1 million secretaries and administrative assistants working in the United States, according to U.S. Department of Labor statistics, and 8.9 million people working in various administrative support roles. More than 475,000 administrative professionals are employed in Canada. Millions more administrative professionals work in offices all over the world.
