Crown Associate Center
Serving Clay, Duval and Nassau Counties
Executive Summary
May 1, 2012

FUNDING SOURCE: The Florida Department of Education utilizes funds from the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA), Part B, IDEA, Part B, Pre-K and General Revenue funds to establish budgets for the FDLRS Associate Centers.

ALLOCATION:	IDEA, Part B	$1,028,679
	IDEA, Preschool	$ 189,773
	General Revenue	$ 39,397
	Total	$1,257,849

GOAL: FDLRS funds are used to support Child Find efforts in accordance with federal laws; provide services to parents in the form of awareness and training; support to teachers of students with disabilities through training and materials; and inform teachers, parents and students of available instructional technology and how to access and use it.

OBJECTIVES: FDLRS/Crown Associate Center serves Clay, Duval and Nassau Counties and is responsible for:

- providing assistance to parents, teachers, and other school personnel and community organizations in locating and identifying students with disabilities and in planning educational programs for such children;
- assisting in the provision of services for students with disabilities, using to the maximum, but not supplanting, the existing facilities and services of each district;
- providing awareness information for teachers, principals, supervisors, and community agencies to familiarize them with center facilities and services for students with disabilities;
- planning, coordinating, and assisting in the implementation of in-service training programs, consistent with each district's program of staff development, for the development and updating of attitudes, skills, and instructional practices and procedures necessary for effective education of students with disabilities;
- providing for the dissemination and diffusion of relevant information and promising practices derived from educational research, demonstration, and other projects; and
- assisting in the delivery, modification and integration of instructional technology, including computer applications and adaptive and assistive devices, appropriate to the unique needs of students with disabilities.

The FDLRS/Crown Associate Center is governed by a Coordinating Council, which oversees the project implementation and center activities, and reviews center activities with respect to coordination and equitable provision of services to each district.
